

The introduction of cell phone use in aircraft ,that are already tightly cramped and thinlly oxygenated, is a recipe for disaster. "Cell-phone-in-the-air-rage" is soon to develop in an already stressful environment. Flight attendants will be left powerless to maintain a safe, noise pollution-less environment. 100+ people carrying on conversations over the roar of jet engines will virutally guarantee non-compliance with safety instructions and evacuation commands. Terrorists will also have an organized mode of texting or calling each other for planned attacks. Please, help protect our workplace and our lives!

Ramie Miller-Ward
UAL Flight Atendant